

Twass the Night of the Band Booster Meeting

Meeting notes brought to you by storytelling format

Written by Pam Veze acting secretary

Twass the night of the band booster meeting and all through the band room were 7 individuals who came about. They were Sandra and Lori, Jen and Pam, Shawn and Ron and Marc Farber for the win. The first one to speak was the treasurer report. We have $15,000 in checks that we wrote. To what to our wondering eyes did appear, but that students still owe for the band trip this coming year. We must pay the Grinch $7,000. If we do not have sufficient funds we will flounder. How will we pay? The crowd is all wondering? With fundraisers galore, including appeticious and pizza sellers. Onto the next house/agenda was the construction on santa's trailer. We must help after the Holiday's. Promises of help from trusty players and marchers. The concerts were filled with a plump student body. Who enjoyed watching the students play with amazement and wonder. When will the next concerts be? Thursday for middle school, March and May according to the calendar you see. There will be field trips to Westminster and Beaver that we foresee. Do not miss out on the fun this will be. Talks of Jazz ensembles, District band and PMEA in the books. What better way to end our meeting? With surprise giveaways from Lori Garvey to thee. A free pampered chef sifter was up for the taking. We all perked up to hear the clatter, only to find out those who participated would matter. The winner was drawn by Mr. Sisler himself. The Janney's were drawn from a hat don't you see for the win of the fancy herb sifter, yippee! At last, Sisler whistled and called us by name Now, Sandra! Now, Lori, Now, Jen and Pam! On Ron and Marc we must get in our van. Now dash away, dash away, dash away all. But I heard them exclaim as we drove out of sight Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night!
